Big Offensive Launched in Kansas City With Thousands of Veterans Present

VICE-PRESIDENT IS THERE

Coolidge Represents President Harding at Big Meeting
Shuman Heink Sings

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 31.—The big American Legion went into action here today launching an offensive against a program strategists said which would occupy three full days to occupy and consolidate.

As the zero hour approached the convention hall sector was choked with thousands of restless veterans all eager for the word to "go over the top."

Watching closely were General Armando Diaz of the Italian army, General Baron Jacques of Belgium, and Vice President Coolidge, who is representing President Harding.

Admiral Earl Beatty of the British grand fleet is expected to arrive during the late forenoon and this evening were to come Marshal Foch of France, commander in chief of the allied armies, and Admiral John J. Pershing of the American expeditionary forces acting as Marshal Foch's aide.

Shuman Heink Sings.

The proceedings began with songs by Madame Shuman Heink, whose voice cheered the men during the darker days of the war.

Then John G. Emery, of Grand Rapids, Mich., national commander of the Legion, called the convention to order and the invocation was pronounced by the Rev. John W. Winter, of Chattanooga, Tenn., national chaplain of the Legion.

One of the features scheduled for the morning session was the appearance of Vice President Coolidge, who was to speak.

This evening Admiral Earl Beatty will speak.

Tribute to Galbraith.

The convention quickly got down to business. The report of the committee on permanent organization recommending that ten national committees with representation from each state be maintained was adopted.

At the request of Commander Emery the convention adjourned and stood for a half-minute in silent tribute to the memory of the late F. W. Galbraith, national commander of the Legion, who was killed in a motor car accident near Indianapolis last June. Then Mr. Emery proceeded to deliver his report to the convention.

WOULD AID JOBBERS

Kansas, City, Mo., Oct. 31.—Efforts made by the American Legion to combat the unemployment situation as it affects the former service man and the suggestion of remedy for the problem were set forth at length in the annual report of Adjutant Lemuel Bolles, to the national convention of the Legion here today.

Mr. Bolles suggested stimulation of public work, a more vigorous exclusion of aliens and a systematic effort on the part of local posts and departments to find work for the 900,000 former soldiers said by the report to be jobless.

Possibility of Election Going Into Courts Cause of Discussion in Fargo

NOTHING PLANNED—N. P.

Judge Young Gives Ideas On Actions To Be Taken By Independent Officials

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 31.—Possibility of a contest of the election by the Nonpartisans was the subject of much discussion among politicians here today.

Frank Estman, publicity man at Fargo headquarters, declared Saturday night that nothing like that was planned. William Lemke, Attorney-general, was in Fargo, but declined to comment until tall returns were in. Mr. Lemke's remarks in speeches just preceding the election were taken by many politicians to mean that there would be a contest of the election, on the ground of fraud. At least it was expected that he would make the allegations of fraud in signing the petitioning basis for court action of some kind.

The defeat of the league was generally accepted here. First reports in Fargo gave Nestos such a majority that it was predicted by Independents that he would have a majority of 6,000. They were surprised when the lead was cut so greatly by Governor Frazier as many rural precincts, particularly in the western part of the state, gave heavier majorities for the league than had been anticipated. There were many changes and turnover; in some the league gained and in some they lost.

A. C. Townley was to leave for Jackson, Minn., today, to begin serving his 90-day jail term. It was expected he might issue a statement before going to Jackson. Oliver Morris, publicity man for the National Nonpartisan League, said that Mr. Townley came to Fargo only to straighten out his personal affairs.

Judge Young's Views

Much credit was given by Independents for their securing victory to Judge N. C. Young. Interviewed by a St. Paul newspaper man, Judge Young gave his ideas on the course for the Independents to pursue in office.

"If you were interested in a business and you believed that the board of directors of that concern were mismanaging the property, what would you do?" asked Judge Young.

"First of all," Young said, answering his own question, "you would fire that board of directors."

"Now the state of North Dakota," Young continued, "not only is in the governing business but it is in the business field as well. We have a board of directors in the State Industrial commission composed of Governor Frazier, Attorney General Lemke and Commissioner Hagan. We accuse them of mismanagement. Accordingly we have fired them."

What votes the I. V. A. lost in former Independent strongholds was due, it is said, to the opposition to the program and to some of the men identified with the campaign who had been lately prominent in league circles.

Fall Behind Nestos Vote

That little of this feeling attached personally to R. A. Nestos is reflected in the final vote to some extent, for the laws probably will not receive the endorsement that Nestos seems sure of getting at this writing.

County after county which gave Nestos a majority in several instances rejected the primary laws or gave them much poorer endorsement than they did the I. V. A. candidate.

The Tribune is printing in another column a table of the vote on measures so far as returns have been received. While the returns are too meager even to wager a guess, politicians feel that the primary laws have at least been defeated, while there is a serious question as to some of the others. Only complete returns probably will decide their fate.

TAX LIMIT LAW
IS HELD VALID
BY HIGH COURT

House bill No. 25, the tax limitation bill, is upheld in a decision of the supreme court, issued at 4 p. m.

Three judges, Christianson, Birdzell and Benson, hold the act unconstitutional. Two judges, Robinson and Grace, hold it is constitutional.

Under the requirement that four-fifths of judges must declare law unconstitutional to make it effect, the law is upheld.

The bill limits tax levies of political subdivisions to one-third the amount raised in 1918, 1919 and 1920.

Chicago, Oct. 31.—The U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., of the city, on October 27, made more than 1,000 members, its contracts with grain elevators and local shipping associations, according to an announcement by its president, George W. Crowder, during the month of October. The reported county 7,000,000 bushels of grain were raised from 1,500,000 bushels in 1918, a 460% increase.

LEGION WOMEN ARE BUSY WITH OWN SESSIONS

First Official Meeting of Women's Auxiliary Held at Kansas City Beginning Monday

LADY BEATTY A GUEST

Decision of the Official Name
To Be Part of Business of Session

Kansas City Mo Oct 29—While the men who made America's army during the world war are occupied here next week with the third national convention of the American Legion wives, sisters, mothers and sweethearts of many of these same men expect to be busy with a convention of their own—the first national convention of the women's auxiliary of the American Legion.

Indications are that, while the women's convention will not be as large as the men's it will have quite as many matters to engage its members.

Its principal purpose is to perfect organization of the auxiliary. It will also select a definite and official name. Some members favor calling it by its present title—the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion. Others are in favor of designating the organization as "The Women of the American Legion."

Qualifications for membership are expected to be drawn up policies outlined, and national officers elected.

The women's organization owes much of its strength to the work of Miss Pauline Curnick, national organizer and director. Legion officials say she will preside at the opening session of the women's convention Tuesday morning, Nov 1.

The Rev Dr Burrell A Jenkins of this city will give the invocation. National Commander John G Emery will then open the convention and Admiral Beatty, who was made an earl of British realm for the part he played in the battle of Jutland, and Lieut. Gen. Baron Jacques of Belgium will speak. The convention will adjourn at noon to give the women an opportunity to watch the Legion parade. A dinner in honor of Lady Beatty, the British admiral's American wife, for Mrs John G Emery, wife of the national commander of the Legion and distinguished women guests will be given that evening.

Wednesday will be devoted to business. General Pershing and Marshal Foch are expected to greet the women that morning, however, in very brief speeches. Late in the afternoon, if the convention committee's schedule is carried out, the convention will adjourn sine die for tea at the Women's City Club.

Mrs R B Teachnor, whose two sons served in France, has been chairman in charge of plans for the convention.

Men's Meet

Kansas City, Oct 29—"Kansas City or bust" became the slogan of the American Legion today as its members moved upon the city for their annual convention which begins Monday.

From east, west, or south, by rail, by air, by motor, and foot, came the Legionnaires all drawn to one central point by the bond of comradeship.

Lieutenant Jacques, of Belgium, and General Diaz of Italy are to be the first of the military men from abroad to arrive.

Their trains are due in Sunday morning.

Monday afternoon will come Marshal Foch who will be accompanied by General John J Pershing of the American army.

Vice President Calvin Coolidge, representing the president will lead the American delegation of Americans.

EXPRESS TRAIN DERAILED; HUNT 3 STRANGERS

LaPeer Mich, Oct 29—Railroad detectives were searching the country side today for three men who fled from the scene late last night of the derailment of the first section of Grand Trunk passenger train No 5. The men were believed to be the train wreckers who removed a rail near Elba, three miles from here, with the result that entire train except on pullman car plunged into the ditch. Three persons were injured seriously.

The engineer observed from a distance that a rail had been removed and was able to slacken the speed of the train before it reached the spot. The engine turned over three times as it hurried into the ditch. The coaches merely left the rails and toppled over.

The injured two passengers and fireman were brought here for treatment. The fireman seriously scalded probably could not recover.

POLITICS WILL BE DISCUSSED

Women of Nine States to Hold Meeting on Tuesday

Fort Worth Tex Oct 29—Women voters of nine states will be represented by delegates here tomorrow when the convention of the Sixth Region National League of Women Voters opens for a two-day session, at the conclusion of the annual state meeting in the states that will have delegates are Nebraska, Colorado, Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas and a total of 25,000 members will be represented.

Mrs Charles H Brooks of Wichita, Kansas, who was the first chairman of the National League of Women Voters when it was a committee of the suffrage association and is the state president of the Kansas League, will be one of the delegates. Another will be Mrs Jessie Williams of St Louis, president of the Missouri League.

The program of the opening day which will be devoted to various topics, chief of which probably will be the question of national disarmament includes several speakers prominent in women's activities of their state. Mrs

Wednesday will be devoted to business. General Pershing and Marshal Foch are expected to greet the women that morning, however, in very brief speeches. Late in the afternoon, if the convention committee's schedule is carried out, the convention will adjourn sine die for tea at the Women's City Club.

REP. BLANTON IN COLLAPSE AFTER CENSURE

Texas Representative Brings
Expulsion Case to Dramatic Close

Washington, Oct 29—The censure of the house of representatives as publicly announced by Speaker Gillette in accordance with an unanimous vote of its members today rested on Rep Thomas L Blanton, of Texas.

Retaining his seat by a bare margin of 8 votes under the two-thirds rule for expulsion, the vote being 203 to 211 on the resolution of Rep Mandell, of Wyoming, Republican leader, proposing expulsion of the Texas member for inserting in the congressional record a document described as "un speakably vile." Rep Blanton a few minutes later heard his colleagues vote unanimously for a resolution proposing that he be publicly reprimanded at the bar of the house.

The Texas member brought the scene to a dramatic conclusion when on leaving the chamber after the reprimand he collapsed. He quickly recovered, however, after being picked up by colleagues and later was observed hard at work in his office on a pile of correspondence.

LEGION GAINS STRENGTH SAYS, NATIONAL HEAD

Emery Declares it Progresses in Face of Adverse Conditions Affecting U. S.

BONUS NOT SETTLED

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 31.—The issue of national adjusted compensation for the ex-service man has not been at all settled, John G. Emery, national commander of the American Legion, declared here today in his address opening the third annual convention of the Legion.

"Such means as were used last summer to beat adjusted compensation cannot ultimately succeed," Commander Emery told the Legion. "Nothing is settled until it is settled right."

"The American people are the court of last resort and wherever the American people have by the ballot passed judgment on the matter of adjusted compensation that judgment has been an endorsement of the Legion's stand."

"I cannot conceive of a Congress so derelict in its duty, so unmindful of its just obligation to those who served their country at great financial loss, or so blind to the wishes of our people as to be misled again into refusing to adjust the economic balance between the man who went to war and the man who did not."

Legion Gains.

Commander Emery reported that "in the face of adverse industrial conditions, which have hit the ex-service men harder than any other class, the Legion has gained in strength and its financial position has steadily improved."

He suggested that the political clause in the Legion's constitution, which "will not permit any one who holds or is seeking a salaried elective public office to hold office in the Legion or in any department or post thereof," be extended to include appointive offices. He added that he felt that "no person in public life, in community, state or nation, should be allowed to speak for the Legion, and the Legion must be allowed to continue to speak for itself when issues involving service men are concerned, and then in terms which all the world will understand."

Commander Emery paid high tribute to the late Commander Frederic W. Galbraith, Jr., who was killed in an automobile accident. He said his one aim had been to carry through the great program which Commander Galbraith had left unfinished.

A notable public service of the past year, Commander Emery pointed out, was the "frustration of a nation-wide German propaganda campaign in the United States." This, he said, was to start with a series of "Rhine Horror" meetings.

Galbraith Spoke.
"The notorious propagandist, Von Mach, believed he had so cleverly concealed his motives that he asked Galbraith to speak at the first Rhine Horror meeting at Madison Square Garden," Commander Emery said. "As you will remember, Galbraith did not wait that long before he spoke. He told Von Mach on the spot what he thought of him and his project. The Legion prepared immediately to organize counter demonstrations wherever the pro-Germans might carry out their pre-conceived program. Most of these meetings were never held, however, for Von Mach abandoned his scheme after one disastrous attempt at Madison Square Garden."

The greatest Legion achievement of the year, Commander Emery said, was won for the disabled service men, its vigorous efforts resulting in creation of the Veterans Bureau.

The last national work undertaken by the Legion has been for the relief of comrades who are unemployed," Commander Emery continued. "It is a duty of the legion to extend every aid to these comrades and a duty which I know the Legion will not fail to perform," he said.

Already Commander Emery reported that a movement was on foot in France to consolidate the numerous veteran associations there into one unified and effective body. "It is a singular tribute to use that the name proposed for the new organization is Legion Francaise," he noted. "In Great Britain, too, the American Legion is the pattern after which the ex-service groups are being reformed and brought together under the name of the British Legion.

"Tomorrow morning," he continued, "there will be called to order in Kansas City another great convention, a convention which means the dawn of a new day in the making of better America. The Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion, with members unbundled, is about to become an accomplished fact. Independent and self-governing, a worthy compatriot of the Legion."

ENJOINS UNION FROM WORK IN WEST VIRGINIA

Judge Anderson Restraints Unit- ed Mine Workers From Organizing

Indianapolis, Oct. 31.—An injunction directed at stopping the United Mine Workers of America in their attempts to unionize the Williamson coal fields in West Virginia where miners have been on strike for more than a year was issued by Federal Judge Anderson on the ground that the union was seeking to restrain trade.

After Judge Anderson's announcement of the order some delay in its issuance was occasioned by discussion between court and counsel.

The court did not deny the workers the right to organize but held miners efforts in West Virginia coal fields was a conspiracy with operators in organized union fields to shut off the mining of non-union mined coal.

In discussing with counsel the text of the order Judge Anderson said he would not enjoin "peaceful efforts" of the union to organize West Virginia.

INDIAN CHIEF, ALWAYS FRIEND OF WHITES DIES

Adam Shipto Passed Away at Fort Totten Reservation
At Age of 87

WAS A CHIEF OF SIOUX

Devils Lake, N. D., Oct. 31.—Adam Shipto, Chief of a long line of chieftains, passed to the Land of Shadows from Fort Totten reservation last week at the age of 87. The Sioux Nation lost one of its greatest remaining sons.

Shipto's burial at the Indian Mission was in accord with the true friend of the paleface which he was, for his body went to its interment in a modern motor hearse.

Born in an Indian settlement at Devils Lake, N. D., in 1834, Shipto roamed at will with his people, hunting buffalo on the great plains of the Northwest as far north as the international boundary. In 1861 he watched his father, Hokshawsteka, a man of influence among his people, sign the treaty between the Sisseton and Wahpeton bands and the government, and then set out for the homelands of the Sissetons between the Missouri and Mississippi rivers to the east.

Stay is Short

His stay in his native territory was short, however. The following year, when Little Crow of the Sioux was about to begin that bloodiest of Indian wars, the Minnesota Massacre, Standing Buffalo (Tanka-najin), Shipto's grandfather and then Chief of the Sissetons, withdrew his following from the forces of Little Crow and led them far to the west. For Standing Buffalo saw visions of many, many palefaces—too many to fight, and chose their friendship instead. Shipto, then 28 years of age went with his people.

Seven years later when Standing Buffalo was killed in a battle with the Crows, blood-enemies of the Sioux, Shipto took his place at the head of his people and led them back across the country of the Gros Ventres to the Devils Lake reservation.

Like his famous grandfather, Shipto allied himself to the whites in a strong bond of friendship. From his first days he aided in every way the program of civilization among his people, even though it was often a severe tax on his pride. For Shipto had spoken.

Tells of Influence
James McLaughlin, now government superintendent of Indian agencies, says in his book "My Friend the Indian," "Shipto's influence was cast for the white man, and he laid aside his warlike tools and went to work. But for a long time he would hide his axe when anybody approached the place where he was working, feeling that it was degrading that a warrior should be seen engaged in manual labor."

Always his influence was exerted against the nomadic tendencies of his people and he was the first to settle down on the reservation and engage in farming with any success. A simple man, truthful and honest in the extreme, this wrinkled old man represented the highest type of Indian and held a high place in the esteem of both his people and his friends of paler skin. Many were the expressions of genuine regret in this section when news of his death was heard.

Although blind for several years before he died, Shipto was always an authority on the calendar among his people, who expressed great wonder at his ability to tell the time of the new moon, the day of the month or the coming of the sun although he dwelt in total darkness. He was also a witness in the famous suit of the Sisseton and Wahpetons against the government last year.

Dwelling in eternal darkness, the old Indian spent many of his declining days sitting before his cottage musing, perhaps on the days when the people of the grass-lands fought bitter wars with blue-coats, buffalo roamed the plains and the iron horse of the paleface had not crossed the Minnesota boundary.

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes
—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known
Ohio Physician.

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c.

Miss Devine and Gerald Richholt Married Yesterday

At nine o'clock Sunday morning at the priests house of St. Mary's church occurred the wedding of Miss Marguerite M. Devine, daughter of Daniel E. Devine of Superior, Wis., and Gerald L. Richholt, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Richholt of this city. Rev. Father Siag officiated, the ring service being used.

The bride was charmingly attired in a blue tricotine dress trimmed in beads. She wore a corsage of pink sweetheart roses. Miss Irene Griffin, cousin of the bridegroom was the bridesmaid. She was attired in a fall dress and carried pink ophelia roses.

Mr. Richholt was attended by Arnold Swendsgaard. The wedding was private and friends did not know of the event until after the ceremony when telephone calls from Mr. Richholt soon spread the news.

Mrs. Richholt was one of the city's popular young ladies. She is a graduate of the St. Alexius Training School and has made her home in Bismarck for the past three years. Mr. Richholt is a graduate of the Bismarck high school with the class of 1916 and was stationed at Camp Lewis during the war.

Following the wedding the party returned to the Richholt home where a bridal breakfast was served. The table decorations were of pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Richholt left on the noon train yesterday for Tacoma and other western points where they will visit for about three weeks. They will make their home in Bismarck.

Large Crowd Attend Party

Over two hundred couples attended the dance given by the members of the U. C. T. at the Grand Pacific hotel Saturday night. The evening was spent dancing in the lobby and in the dining room. McDonald's orchestra furnished the music. A plate lunch was served at one o'clock. The hall was attractively decorated in Hallowe'en colors and pumpkins and corn shocks were used in the windows.

Town Criers Club to Visit Bismarck Grocery

The Bismarck Grocery has invited the Town Criers' club to visit their establishment tomorrow evening at eight o'clock. The regular monthly business meeting will be held there. It is expected that the three special committees will report at this meeting. All members are asked to be present at this meeting.

HIGH SCHOOL PARTY
A canopy of Hallowe'en colors in the center of which was an orange parasol with a large number of witches, ghosts, and brownies suspended from it, formed the setting for the scene of the Hallowe'en party at the high school Saturday evening. The party opened with trips to Blue Beard's den, fortune telling booths and a room of surprises. A short play in pantomime was given by members of the Senior class. Following this the party went to the gymnasium where they witnessed a ghost and a witch dance, given by members of the girls' gymnasium classes. Refreshments were then served. The remainder of the evening was spent dancing.

GIVES HALLOWEEN PARTY.
Master James Snyder entertained a number of friends at a Hallowe'en party at his home on Washington avenue. The afternoons was spent playing games after which a Hallowe'en lunch was served for the little people. Among those present at the party were Robert Spangler, Arthur Sanders, Robert and Richard Carr, Robert Gusner, James Preston, George and Norman Dohn, William Dahlheimer, and Wesley Dawe.

GIVES HALLOWEEN DINNER.
Mary, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward White entertained eighteen of her little girl friends at a four course 6 o'clock dinner at her home Saturday evening. The decorations and appointments were in Hallowe'en colors. Dainty Hallowe'en baskets with the name of each little guest on them were the favors. Following the dinner the evening was spent playing games and trying Hallowe'en contests.

GIVEN RECEPTION.
The members of the official board of the McCabe Methodist church will give a reception at the church tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Haisyard. A short musical program will be given during the evening. The Ladies Aid of the church will serve refreshments. Everyone is invited to attend the reception and meet the new pastor.

TO GIVE BAZAAR AND SUPPER
The members of the Methodist Ladies Aid have named November 10, as the date for their bazaar and supper. The event will be held in the lower auditorium of the church. The ladies have been busy on the fancy work for the past year and they will have work of all descriptions for sale.

ENTERTAINS S. S. CLASS.
Miss Esther Agre entertained the members of her Sunday school class at a Hallowe'en party at her home Saturday night. A pleasant evening was spent playing games. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening. Hallowe'en decorations were used in the rooms.

GIVE INFORMAL PARTY
The Luther League of the First Lutheran church has arranged an informal Hallowe'en party to be held at the church parlor this evening at 8 o'clock. Members and friends of the society and congregation are cordially invited to be present.

NEW GOWNS JUST OVER FROM PARIS

BY MARIAN HALE.

New York, Oct. 31—One touch of embroidery makes the whole world kin.

At least so it seems from the way the gay colors of Balkan states,

Czecho-Slovakia and Russia are introduced into our fashion tables.

The original Paul Poiret afternoon gown of brown moire, on the right, is made along lines which accentuate the waist line.

There is something suggestive of the peasant costume about this, and the touch of embroidery furthers this impression, although the gown is strictly the dernier cri from Paris.

The short sleeves and the cloche collar are edged with fur, the same continuing down the front of the bodice.

The red velvet evening gown from Poiret, on the left, is the most daring creation that has come from the famous Paris houses this season. The waist is strapless, as well as low.

The full skirt of red velvet is edged with fur. The bodice when there is of it, is of silver embroidery, as are the cord and tassels.

thoroughly. Stir until the custard is perfectly dissolved. When cool fold in the whites of the eggs beaten till stiff and dry. Turn into a mold and put on until chilled and firm.

Nuts can be chopped fine and stirred into any ice cream when the cream is about half frozen. Serve a nut cream with a plain sponge cake and a plain cream with a nut cake.

Tempting Desserts For Lagging Appetites

(By Sister Mary)

Rich desserts can be made with nuts. With a dessert of this kind the main part of the dinner should be eaten light.

Peanuts are perhaps the least desirable nut to use for desserts as they are highly flavored and don't blend quite so smoothly. Almonds should be blanched before using, as the thick skin is hard to digest. To blanch almonds cover with boiling water and let stand two or three minutes. Drain and dip in cold water for a few minutes. The skins will slip off easily. Dry thoroughly before using in any way.

Emergency Pudding

One-half cup brown sugar, 2 tablespoons milk, 1-4 teaspoon soda, 1 cup flour, 1-2 teaspoon butter, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, 1 cup blanched almonds.

Dissolve sugar and milk over a very slow fire to prevent burning. Dissolve soda in 1 tablespoonful of warm water and stir in melted sugar. Add milk and butter and stir in cornstarch dissolved in a little milk. Cook, stirring constantly, until thick. Add to nuts and let cool a few minutes before serving. Serve with whipped cream.

Almond Charlotte

One cup blanched almonds, 1-2 cup sugar, 2 cups milk, 3 eggs, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatine, 1-8 teaspoon salt.

Melt half the sugar in a frying pan. Add the almonds and stir until a light brown. Cool and pound with a wooden potato masher until smooth. If you have an aluminum double boiler, brown the almonds in it. Put almonds in a double boiler and add 1-2 cups of the milk. Heat slowly to the boiling point, but do not let boil. Beat the eggs of the sugar with the rest of the sugar and salt. Daintily with the remaining half cup of milk and stir into the hot milk. Cook and stir until the mixture thickens. Dissolve gelatine in 1-4 cup boiling water. Pour first mixture slowly over gelatine, mixing

ELECTRIC HORSE

Many people who live in Lynn, Mass., are proudly writing their friends that America's first electric street car was put into operation in Lynn 33 years ago this month. This is an honor frequently conceded to Lynn by electrical magazines.

The only fly in the ointment is that Richmond, Va., beat Lynn to it by eight months. The electric street car system of Richmond, first in the United States, began operation in Feb., 1888.

It's a good deal like the steam engine. James Watt, Scotchman, born in 1736, is honored popularly as its inventor. Yet the turbine steam engine was described more than 2000 years ago by Hero of Alexandria, Egypt, in his book, "Pneumatica."

Possibly some one had a steam engine 2000 years before that.

Man progresses so slowly, one generation improving another's devices, that it is next to impossible to trace anything to its real "original source."

Electric street cars are so common today, that it seems almost impossible that they did not exist until Lynn and Richmond introduced them 33 years ago. It is so with most of the wonderful devices that are so commonplace in our every-day lives.

We celebrate an invention like the street car. But those who think that the American tendency to congregate in cities is a peril have much on their side when they argue that the street car is the ally of congestion.

The city, however, is not a lasting phenomenon. In time, all cities will stop growing. An age of villages will follow, with factories in the open country. The value of electric transportation will be even greater than it is now.

It is only by adequate transportation, such as that afforded by the electric car running on tracks, that a population living in the country could keep its economic machine functioning. Maybe the motor trucks will displace the electric street car and the railroad.

First, man walked on his own legs. Then he was carried on a litter borne by slaves. Next he tamed the wild horse, camel and elephant. Later came the invention of the wheel, which led to the introduction of animal-drawn vehicles.

Many can recall the old-time street cars drawn by horses.

Thirty-three years ago, when the electric street car was made practicable, the age of electricity really began.

BUY AN AIRPLANE

The flying flivver has arrived. It is the Messenger plane, weighing only 623 pounds without passengers or gasoline. Lawrence Sperry Aircraft Company, of Farmingdale, Long Island, builds it for the government air service.

Auto drivers will be interested in the Messenger airplane's engine. It is three-cylinder, air cooled, 60 horse-power. You can crank it easily with one hand.

Here's a prediction: Sooner or later, Henry Ford will announce a Ford airplane. Specifications of the Messenger plane must appeal to Henry: light weight, good engine.

Sperry, whose company makes the Messenger plane, uses one himself, traveling between home and factory, also to the golf club and on weekend trips.

He says the plane is faster than trains, and eliminates waiting at railroad stations.

Says Sperry: "I have landed on country roads, beside ordinary gasoline stations, for supplies, and dropped into many fields of less than 10 acres in size. In all my travels in this plane, landing and taking off in new and restricted places, I have never met with a single accident of any consequence."

"Even in rainy weather, I prefer this method of transportation to an automobile, because I can keep just as dry, and I do not have to worry about my car skidding. Besides, I can make it in one-third of the time."

The Messenger airplane would not require a very large garage. Its wing spread is only 20 feet.

In compactness, it comes close to the size that will be required when people begin using airplanes as they now use autos.

That time is delayed chiefly by the ground space required in landing or taking off in an airplane. Inventors soon will solve this problem, giving us a plane that will raise through the trap-door roof of a garage, and settle slowly back, with the precision of an elevator.

Man is slow at solving that problem. Why? Because, for thousands of years we have been chained by gravity. Living in three dimensions, we have had our activities largely confined to length and width. Except in climbing stairs or hills or using an elevator, we have not done much with the third dimension, height or depth.

One of the Vanderbilts laughed at the idea of elevated railroads. He pooh-poohed "railroads on stilts." Yet he lived to see the elevated railroad in successful operation.

So, too, will many who now scoff at airplanes live to see the sky filled with flying flivvers. The day is close at hand.

TZ'UK KUK

How many football stars know that they are playing a game invented in China 4618 years ago?

The inventor was Huang Ti, the Yellow Emperor, husband of the woman who originated the silk worm industry.

Football is the oldest outdoor sport. Compared with it, baseball is a youngster. The first diagram of a baseball diamond was drawn in 1839 by Abner Doubleday of Cooperstown, N. Y.

In 1907 an investigating commission found that the "national game of baseball" originated with the Knickerbocker Club, which was organized in New York in 1845.

You can, of course, trace baseball back to "town ball" of early New England. That, in turn, leads you to the English game of "rounds." But, alongside football, baseball is a babe in arms, though fans may insist that it originated before man, among monkeys tossing cocoanuts at each other.

Dr. Stewart Culin, of the Brooklyn Institute Museum, is the man who has traced football back into China 4618 years ago.

He says the Chinese played it with a round leather ball, stuffed with goat hair. Players wore silk clothes and, when tired, fanned themselves.

"Tz'uk Kuk" was what the Chinese called football.

The Greeks had a similar game, which somehow reached them from the Orient. So did the Romans. Ancient Eskimos played it with a moss-stuffed leather ball.

Cromwell was a football fan 300 years ago. Chaucer and Shakespeare saw the game and wrote delightfully about it. Time and again, English kings put the ban on the gridiron game, fearing it was undermining the game of archery, which developed bow-and-arrow experts for war.

The reason football originated in remote antiquity and was played by every important nation, is because it embodies every branch of war tactics.

The big German drives during the World War were nothing but attempts to plunge through a line that held.

If an army exposes a flank, the enemy makes an end run.

As for artillery, it corresponds to forward passes.

When West Point plays football with Annapolis, it is a contest of military tactics between Army and Navy.

That baseball in America has taken the lead in popularity away from the older and military game, football, simply goes to show that normally we are not a military nation. In a contest, the American public most admires headwork and minute skill—baseball.

First, man walked on his own legs. Then he was carried on a litter borne by slaves. Next he tamed the wild horse, camel and elephant. Later came the invention of the wheel, which led to the introduction of animal-drawn vehicles.

Many can recall the old-time street cars drawn by horses.

Thirty-three years ago, when the electric street car was made practicable, the age of electricity really began.

CONQUERING

Leprosy, most dread disease is being conquered by the chaulmoogra oil treatment. First successful at Honolulu, it is being tried in Japan, which has 100,000 lepers.

Dr. T. Hoyoshima, head of the medical college at Kyoto, Japan, says that the treatment is so successful that his patients within a few months lose all external evidences of the disease.

Lepers once were stoned and cast out. That a cure has nearly been perfected, is due to medical men, mostly Americans, who braved the disease for experimentation. Do you know of a greater form of heroism?

PRICES

Capital and labor are saying, "After you, my dear Gaston." Capital says it cannot reduce wages come down. Labor says wages shouldn't come down until living costs are reduced. Which comes first, the egg or the chicken?

Ideal arrangement would be for prices and wages to move up or down simultaneously. If that could be attained, the futility of moving either would become obvious.

Labor has the better argument. A function of capital is to take risks, in return for profits. One form of risk is taking a temporary loss, during deflation. That's the penitit for taking temporary gains during inflation. Adjusting our system of economics requires nothing more than common sense.

CELLARS

John M. Rawley, Louisville gas man, claims a world's record. In less than two years he has read 370,308 gas meters, making only three errors.

That is interesting. But it would be far more entrancing to learn what Rawley has seen in all the cellars he has visited—in the way of kegs, siphons, bottling implements and crocks of hissing home-brew chemicals.

HALLOWEEN

(Florence Borner.)

Oh, Hallowe'en will soon be here,
And glee, but I am glad;
But I know lots of other folks,
Who'll soon be awful mad.
Us kids will play all kinds of pranks,
Upon our neighbors dear,
And, as you cannot go along
Just listen and you'll hear.

We'll take the signs in town all down,
And change them all around;
And lots of very funny things,
Will on the streets be found;
We'll get a spool, and notch the ends,
I learned that from the boys—
When pulled along a window-pane,
It makes an awful noise.

We'll get a lot of pumpkins,
And make jack-o'-lanterns, gee!
With fury eyes, and grinning mouth,
They look fierce as can be.
We'll get us all false faces,
Then each one find a sheet,
And dressed in it look just like ghosts,
A-walkin' down the street.

Then say the goblins are around,
And elves, and witches, too;
And, on that night, if you're not good,
They'll fly away with you.
Now, that might scare the little kids,
And make them stay in bed—
I'm eight years old—I'm not afraid—
I'm goin' straight ahead!

So, if you happen to be out,
Late on that special night,
Don't let a few unusual things,
Give you an awful fright.
And, if you see a ghost or two,
Don't start to raise a fuss;
Remember it is Hallowe'en,
And all those spooks are us.

Fifth avenue, only worse, for in that case the traffic policeman could call a patrol wagon and have Johnny hauled off to his own house and put bed properly. Nobody could pick Flatty up. He was too slippery!

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barten Roberts

Flatty Flounder said he was going to sleep, and he did. He lay over on one of his little white sides and closed his eyes, although you could only see one of them, the one on top. That was the last thing he would and did say, and the fairyman and the Twins might just as well have tried to get the Sphinx to talk as that lazy flounder boy. And dear knows, the Sphinx never did talk, and it isn't going to begin now!

The three of them stood by, looking and looking and wondering what to do. Curly the sea-horse said he was too disgusted for words and I suppose the rest were too.

Everybody around, the fishes, crabs, lobsters and all kinds of Wigglefin people, were waiting for a chance to get by. The cross Roads were very narrow, what with rocks and seaweed and everything. Not that the fishes couldn't swim right over the top of Flatty—no, no! But would they? Wasn't anyone of them likely to stop and put up Fatty's quickie 'n' Mr. Frog can gobblin' up Buddy Blue Bottie?

"Well, well," sighed Cap'n Penny winkle finally. "Dick, you'll have to hang up a detour sign and make em all go round. This fellow is here to stay, I suppose we may as well put the covers up and let him alone."

So Nick made a detour sign and hung it on the trunk of a tall seaweed tree where everyone could see and the Wigglefin people all moved off very reluctantly. In that direction it was just as though Johnny Jones had taken a notion to rest his tired little bones right in the middle of traffic at the corner of Main and State streets or where 42nd street crosses

Nebraska Woman Declares She Was Confined To House Most of the Time

"I feel that Tanlac has given me a new lease on life and I will praise it to the longest day I live," said Mrs. Julia O'Riley, 47½, South Twenty-fourth St., Omaha, Neb.

I had been an invalid no long I had about lost all hope of ever being well again. I suffered from indigestion and nervousness all the time and had rheumatism in my feet so bad I could hardly walk. I could hardly move my arms and my back hurt me so bad I couldn't bend over without suffering agony, and I had to stay in the house nearly all the time.

Tanlac has done for me what I never expected any medicine to do. Everything I eat agrees with me, I can set about splendidly and I can do all my housework. My nerves are as steady as a clock and I sleep all night long like a child. I'm picking up weight, too. In fact I just feel like a different person in every way."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

NORTH DAKOTA HAS HARD GAME WITH SO. DAKOTA

Neighbor State Football Machine is Going at Fast Rate

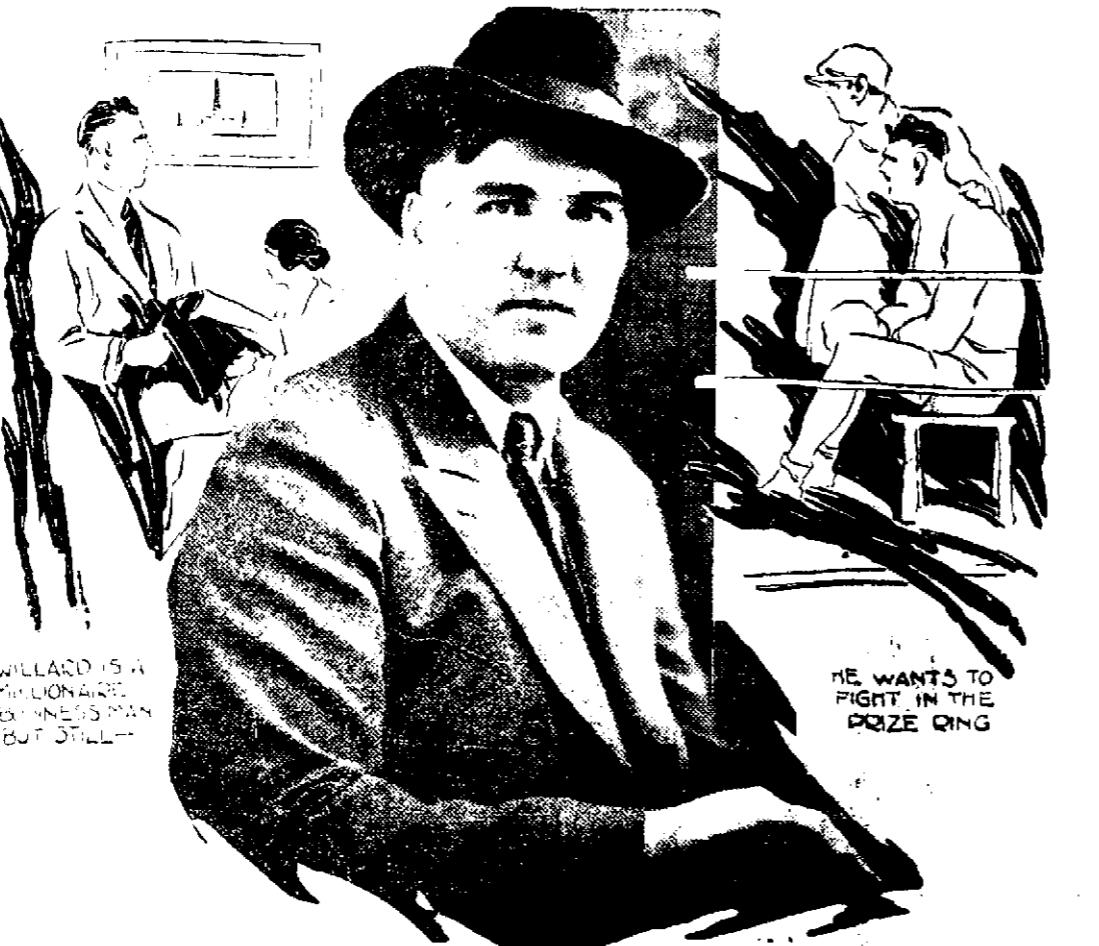

OTHER GAMES OF WEEK

University of North Dakota football players visitors in their homecoming game against the University of South Dakota will this week trek south to try to avenge with the powerful team "Pony" West has assembled at Brookings under the orders of South Dakota State College. That the Dakotah football machine will have a merry week of it and a strenuous afternoon at the end, just how good the North Dakotah machine is has not been demonstrated to its followers and that it may be a team of unbalanced possibilities, abilities that will appear under the stimulus of exceptional opposition is a fact that makes the game at Brookings hard to dope. Saturday's game against North Dakotah Aggies cannot be taken as a criterion or as a basis, for there are elements in a meeting between two high school teams of the state, rivalries unequalled elsewhere, that do not enter into other contests.

While these two teams are meeting in South Dakota, Fargo will stage one of its own private battles in the meeting of Fargo College and the North Dakotah Aggies. Both teams are in the midst of a rather disappointing season, but this will not affect the interest in the game between the town rivals and may intensify it as supporters of both teams feel victory is a possibility. The other state game is the meeting of Park Legion College of Minnesota with the State School of Science at Wahpeton.

Two titular battles are staged in the Big Ten, with a third as a possibility, in Chicago, the Maroons and Ohio State meet in game that will have a very vital bearing on the morale of the Princeton team. Harvard has come a long way since the beginning of the season and in the game against Georgia and Penn State it showed staying power and recuperative ability.

Willard, With All Money Can Buy, Seeks What Money Can't

BY ROY GROVE.

Jess Willard is rich—worth millions.

Nothing that he craves and that money will buy is beyond him.

A big man, immensely in physique, a business general, a millionaire with diamonds and oil wells, yet—

He's not satisfied.

He wants to be the king of prize fighters. He wants to get into the ring and fight. He wants to be a champion of the world. And he'll abandon his oil wells, and diamonds and wealthy friends for a chance to do it.

Willard misses the old days when he was champion. He misses the crowds who used to follow him, the fans who pointed him out as he towered among his admirers. He misses the voices that he used to hear saying, "There goes the champion!"

That is Big Jess' trouble. He will fight Dempsey for nothing. He wants the thing he can't buy—the honors of the prize ring.

The more money Willard makes, the more dissatisfied he becomes. For his signing with Promoter Rickard for a title fight follows closely a new oil strike that Jess has just made near Eureka, Kas.

Three months ago the former champion leased 9,000 acres in Greenwood county, Kas., and soon after brought in an oil well, his first at that place. Now he has resold one-fourth of it's leases there for more than $500,000. Oil men say that before he is through, his tract will net him $2,000,000.

Willard has been a keen business man ever since he began making money in the prize ring. Before he entered the oil game he made money on a ranch near Lawrence, Kas.

Many other men there had a hard time getting returns.

Willard is popular around Eureka. As "common as an old shoe" when they talk oil, but "like a clam" when they bring up the subject of pugilism.

Residents of Eureka think someone's spoofing—when they read stories that Jess is going to fight Dempsey again.

"Don't see how he can afford to take time away from his oil business," said Sylvester Forrester, millionaire oil man of Wichita. "He's making too much money without going back to the fight game."

Still, it's not the jingle in his pocket; it's the buzzing in his bean!

Princeton has been largely without the services of Glurtry and without the services of Lourie, and their presence in condition, undoubtedly will have a great bearing upon the morale of the Princeton team. Harvard has come a long way since the beginning of the season and in the game against Georgia and Penn State it showed staying power and recuperative ability.

rooms and got most of the glory. But Chi was bucking an under-warded super-hero in Capt. Stanley Keck on the losing end. But for Keck the score might have been 40 to nothing instead of a low 9.

Time and again the play went through tackle and end and again this All-American of 1920 stopped the visitors dead. Twice he injected his ponderous frame between Hurley and the Navy end, short-circuiting two touch-downs, and repeated it when he downed a pass on the second end when it seemed that nothing but time could stop the growl.

Chicago got the game and the minor but after all, most of the credit goes to Keck. He was the real hero.

THOSE AMERICAN CANNED GOODS LOOK TEMPTING

Petrograd, Oct. 31. (By a Staff Correspondent of The Associated Press.)—Cases of American milk, bags of American sugar and flour and boxes of American cocoa are a tantalizing sight to Russians as they are moved through the streets of Petrograd. All the population is envious of the children who are given food which money cannot buy.

The American Relief Administration offices here are besieged by foreigners and Russians who want to buy food and are anxiously awaiting the time when warehouses may be established in Petrograd where food drafts may be exchanged for American products now stored here by the child dealers.

One does not have to be in Russia many days before he begins to understand the great affection with which Emma Goldman is reported to have regained the little store of American tinned goods which she brought with her to Sovietland.

Every can of tinned American milk is a letter from home and a tin of only beef is almost as welcome. American army biscuits taste better than angel food and army jam smacks of heaven.

Where everyone is his own steward and cook, as is the case in Russia now, prepared or partly prepared foods are indispensable. The marksmen afford no word nor coal. There is no hard alcohol. Cooking is confined largely to little oil stoves which are so demonstrative that a novice feels as if he were palming a hand grenade.

Cafes are few and far between. They are still very small and offer little variety in their menus. Most of them do not open until 11 a. m., and close at 8 p. m. Their coffee and tea are chiefly imitations. Their sweets are saccharine. Sugar is nearly pure dollar a pound in the open market.

HUNTER KILLED ACCIDENTALLY

Steele, N. D., Oct. 31—Carl Austad, of near Russo, met almost instant death while out hunting with George Okins, of Russo, when his shotgun was fired accidentally and the full charge passed through his abdomen.

The men were riding in a buggy and were driving across the prairie, when the team scared up a jackrabbit.

Mr. Austad told Mr. Okins to try his skill at shooting and see if he could kill the rabbit, so Mr. Okins stepped out of the buggy and fired at the rabbit. At almost the same time Mr. Okins heard a shot behind him and turning he saw the team lunging and Mr. Austad falling from the buggy. He rushed to his side, only in time to see him draw his last breaths of life. His gun had discharged and the shot had passed through his abdomen.

Mr. Okins explains the horrible accident in the following manner: he caused that when he fired his gun it caused the horse to jump and in order to hold them Mr. Austad had to fire again and the full charge passed through his abdomen.

The body was sent home from the grave on the battlefield and arrived at Hague Saturday, October 22. Funeral services were held at the Hull church, pastor from Hull, Westfield and Strasburg officiating.

The crowd of people who paid the last respect to one of the country's heroes was so large that it was impossible for many to get near the door of the church while the services were being conducted.

Besides the local post of the Legion

there were ex-service men present from Hazelton, Strasburg, Pollock, Herried, Hague and other places.

Former "buddies" of the young man who gave his life on the altar of his country acted as pallbearers. Wm. Dillar was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Austad Dillar of Hull.

WOULD ISSUE BENCH WARRANT

County Attorney of Jackson
May Take Action in Townley Case

Fairmount, Minn., Oct. 31.—E. H. Nicholas, county attorney of Jackson county, declared today that he would at once make application for a bench warrant for A. C. Townley, president of the National Nonpartisan league, who is under sentence to serve 90 days in the Jackson county.

Judge E. C. Den, of the Jackson county district court, intimated this morning that a bench warrant would be issued if there was unreasonable delay on the part of Townley in reaching Jackson.

TOWNLEY READY.

Fargo, Oct. 31.—A. C. Townley, president of the National Nonpartisan league, told the Associated Press today that he hoped to complete his business today and leave here this afternoon or night to Jackson City, Minn., and surrender there Tuesday or Wednesday for service of a jail sentence.

The Fairmount story saying the county attorney would apply for a bench warrant was read to the league chief but he made no comment.

WATCHMAN IS FOUND DEAD

Superior, Wis., Oct. 31.—Tony Bozanki, 53, watchman for a wholesale grocery house, was found dead in the boiler room entrance at 7 o'clock this morning. His flashlight had been shot away and there was a bullet through his chest. Two shots were fired from Bozanki's gun, indicating, police say, that he died in a gun battle with burglars last night. The time clock was punched at 7 p. m. but not at 9 p. m. indicating that he was killed early Sunday night.

SLOPE FARMERS PLEDGE SELVES TO RAISE SPUDS

Twenty Farmers Meeting at Dickinson Agree to Put in 185 Acres in 1922

TO IMPROVE THE QUALITY

Dickinson, N. D., Oct. 31.—Following a rise in price with other efforts to spread the gospel of diversified farming over the Slope, 20 potato growers of the Dickinson community pledged themselves to raise 185 acres of a standard variety in 1922 in a meeting held for the purpose at the Stark County court house.

The meeting as called by a number of interested growers through a committee to improve the quality of potatoes that are marketed in Dickinson by getting farmers and other growers to pledge themselves to raise a certain number of acres yearly of some standard variety. The meeting was largely attended and the promoters were successful to a market degree in getting plans systematized that will not only place the potato raising industry on a more profitable basis but improve the quality of them as well.

Those present were enthusiastic over the plans that have so far been made and promised their aid in spreading the movement through Stark County and over the Slope. The project was thoroughly discussed and many helpful experiences were related by growers who have been plugging steadily away for the past several years.

After the discussion the Early Ohio variety was chosen by the growers as the variety on which they would center their efforts during the coming year. Farmers who agreed to raise the spuds and the number of acres pledged by each are:

Ormanza A. Brown, five acres; George Luhman, ten acres; Alfred Skinner, five acres; John Luhman, five acres; Fred Hoffer, 40 acres; Pat Grignon, 15 acres; Glen Cassidy, ten acres; A. W. Zander, five acres; Roy Heidt, two and one-half acres; F. A. Roquette, ten acres; J. C. Steinling, two acres; N. C. Langdon, ten acres; Jacob Peterson, 20 acres; Peder Remme, five acres; Vernon Luhman, ten acres; William David, five acres; August Diers, five acres; George Trinkenschuh, five acres; William Kestig, ten acres; A. W. Mason, ten acres.

Several of the growers present stated that there was not sufficient seed of this variety to be obtained locally and those who cared to purchase seed for the coming year should see B. H. Crawford, N. C. Langdon or Fred Hoffer.

SOME SURPRISES— WISCONSIN WAS THERE WITH ONE

Wisconsin took its place by the side of Ohio, Chicago, and possibly Indiana as the championship possibility of the Big Ten conference Saturday when it defeated the team of the University of Minnesota, 35 to 0. Chicago demonstrated that it had not played a one game schedule aginst Princeton by defeating the team from the University of Colorado by 35 points, while Iowa east a large shade of doubt over the possibilities of its team by failing to defeat Purdue by a decisive score, the numbers being 13 to 0. Michigan had a hard time defeating Illinois, a drop kick being the only score of the game, while Notre Dame turned up for its engagement with the Army by defeating Indiana 28 to 7.

The Wisconsin showing was the impressive one of the day. While the game was hard fought and even for a half, the score at intermission time being 7 to 0, the powerful back field of the Badgers got into action at the end of the game and scored almost as they pleased. In the final touch-downs, they had the luck which usually goes with the stronger team. Chicago surprised even their well-wishers with their ability to score and the condition of its team after the Eastern trip, while Notre Dame demonstrated it was a fit team by romping over Indiana by double the score Harvard made against the same aggregation.

In the east, the defeat of Harvard by Cornell furnished a decided upset, while Dobie, who started coaching at the North Dakota Aggies demonstrated he has still some power as a football mentor, by sending a Cornell university team to the field that humbled the Dartmouth team by a score of 56 to 7. Pittsburgh showed the class of Nebraska will face at the weekend by humiliating the University of Pennsylvania 28 to 0.

In the Missouri Valley, Nebraska, playing its first game of the year against a Missouri Valley opponent, proved its power by showing under Oklahoma 44 to 0. Saturday was a bad day for the undefeated teams in that circuit, Oklahoma, Kansas, Aggies and Drake University, joining the number of defeated teams. Nebraska, with its one game played is now the only team in the circuit without a defeat.

In the state, the university team, who several of its regulars on the schedules defeated the Agricultural College team by a good margin, while the two other leading teams, the Lincoln College in a close race. At St. Paul, in the most important college game of the year in Minnesota, Carleton, which under Hunt has returned to its winning ways, had a battle to defeat St. Thomas, 14 to 7. The winner is conceded by the Minneapolis papers to hold the state championship.

AGRICULTURE FUND BIG AID TO U. S. FARMERS

BY J. R. HOWARD
President, American Farm Bureau Federation

Plans for the distribution of the billion dollar fund made available for the financing of American agriculture, through the War Finance Corporation are being rapidly perfected.

The War Finance Corporation has set up in the principal cities of the country agricultural and live stock loan agencies consisting of committees of five or more men, usually at least three who are banker residents of the general city, and the other members representative of contingent territory.

The purpose of these agricultural loan agencies is to receive and pass upon loans from the local banks or cooperative associations within their territory. If the loan is approved by the agricultural loan agency, they pass it on to the War Finance Corporation for final consideration, following which, if favorable, the funds are immediately placed at the disposal of the local bank or cooperative association making application for the loan.

The farmer thus gets his direct benefit through his local bank or cooperative organization.

Tells of Needs
At a recent meeting at the American Farm Bureau Federation headquarters in Chicago, Chairman Eugene Meyer, Jr., of the War Finance Corporation Board, reviewed very thoroughly his recent trip through the various agricultural and live stock cities.

He showed a very comprehensive draft of the needs of the situation and was particularly impressed with the emergency confronting live stock production.

He indicated that every effort would be made to avail the farmers through their banks or cooperative organizations as rapidly as possible of every benefit of the funds at the disposal of his board and was very optimistic as to the benefits to be derived.

No Loan Limit

There is no limit, either minimum or maximum, as to the amount of the loan. The interest rate to the War Finance Corporation is placed at 6 per cent and the local bank is allowed a commission of not to exceed 2 per cent. Loans up to twelve months are accepted with provisions for two subsequent renewals.

The officers of the American Farm Bureau Federation are very hopeful of the alleviating possibilities of this act.

While they do not consider it as permanent and believe that the farmer must not slack in his efforts for an adequate and permanent finance policy, they do not consider the War Finance Corporation funds of very great benefit in the present emergency and are urging the farmers and local bankers of the agricultural communities to make the utmost use of it.

TWO SCHOONERS FOUNDADRIFT

One Found Off Southern Coast and Another in Lake Michigan

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 31.—The three-masted schooner, J. W. Sommerville, St. Andrews Bay, Florida, to San Juan, Porto Rico, with a lumber cargo, was found dismasted and capsized 40 miles off Dry Tortugas, according to a telegram received today by J. W. Sommerville, of Gulfport, owner of the vessel.

No mention of the fate of the crew of eight was made in the message.

NAIL VESSEL ADRIFT.

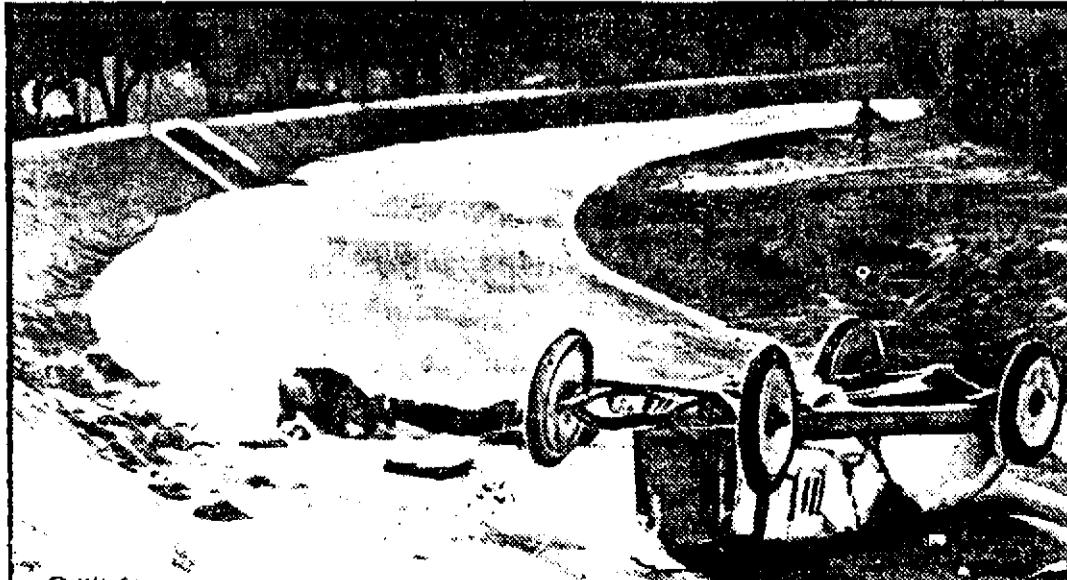

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 31.—The two-masted sailing vessel Rosabelle of the House of David, Benton Harbor, Mich., was found floating bottom side up in Lake Michigan, 42 miles east of Milwaukee Sunday. It was announced from Benton Harbor.

No trace of the crew of four was found. According to Captain Olson, United States Coast Guard, the vessel probably sprang a leak, swamped and rolled over. There was no storm and no signs of collision.

CARRIED LUMBER.

Benton Harbor, Oct. 31.—The schooner Rosabelle adrift in Lake Michigan left High Island last Friday carrying a load of lumber. She is understood to have had nine men aboard. It was stated by owners no word has been received as to the fate of the crew.

TENNESSEE TO BE INVADED BY GREAT GENERALS

Foch and Pershing To Visit Nashville—Foch Is To Be Shown Lafayette's Room

'OLD HICKORY' INSPECTION

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 31.—Plans for Marshal Ferdinand Foch and Gen. John J. Pershing to visit Nashville November 4, when the Thirtieth Division Reunion will be held here, have been approved by the American Legion committee in charge of arranging the Marshal's itinerary while in the United States. General Pershing has sent his acceptance of the invitation.

While here, Marshal Foch will be taken to the Hermitage, home of Andrew Jackson and a shrine with which much of the nation's history is connected. He will be shown the room which Lafayette occupied while a guest of General Jackson and which is still preserved as the "Lafayette room." Lafayette was here several days there with "Old Hickory" during his visit to the United States.

It has been arranged, too, for the Marshal to inspect the Old Hickory Lumber Plant, which, when the armistice was signed, was turning out a million pounds of powder a day as an example of the rapidity with which our work was being pushed in the United States. Begun after this country entered the war, the "Old Hickory" plant was three-quarters complete when peace came. The completed establishment was to have cost approximately $35,000.

The Division will continue its celebration through November 5.

For once more, at least, the governor of North Carolina will have an opportunity to make his traditional remark—"It's a long time between drinks"—to the governor of South Carolina, for both of these chief executives will be guests of Governor Alfred Taylor of Tennessee during the reunion.

Itakes fit for a king or president, literally, will be served to the boys.

For Mrs. Elizabeth Lyle Wilson, who has an international reputation for fancy baking, is in charge of this work. It was Mrs. "Betty" Lyle Wilson who baked the wedding cake for Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson. A Thanksgiving cake, baked by her for President Taft in 1912, was kept on display in a glass case at the White House until Christmas of that year.

So the quality of sweets to be provided for the boys, in this instance, puts eating out of the ordinary category of things taken for granted.

Barbecue, characteristic of this section of the country, will also be served in the free dinners to 10,000 former service men.

Of the 78 Congressional medals awarded for heroism during the World War, twelve were won by the "Old Hickory" Division. Eight of the winners are living, and will be entertained at this reunion as guests of the division. They are: Lieut. James E. Cozier, Sergt. Gary Evans, Foster, Sergt. Richard H. Hilton, Corp. John C. Villepigue of the 118th Infantry; Calvin J. Ward, Sergt. James E. Darney, Sergt. Edward K. Cullen, of the 117th Infantry; Sergt. James B. Adkinson of the 119th Infantry.

Football games, wrestling matches, boxing, dancing and plenty of amusement have been planned for the visiting former doughboys. The soldiers will be billeted in Nashville homes during their stay.

Manchester, Eng., Oct. 31.—Dis-satisfied with the reply of the city guardians to their demands for increased relief, a crowd of unemployed besieged the offices. The guardians got out by the back way.

TRY TO BEAT THESE MARKS

BY ALICE ROME

New York, Oct. 31.—I neither smoke nor drink nor dissipate in any way. I am 22 years old and have been married since I was 19. The first time I won the international championship was two months after I married. Yes, of course, a man works better if he has a home interest."

So says George L. Hossfeld, international professional typewriting champion.

"Concentration—that is my keynote. Frivolity doesn't get you anywhere whether your goal is to be typewriting champion or a winner in any other profession." So says Miss Marion Wane, amateur champion.

"Practice makes perfect. That's my motto. I practice all the time and I'm working toward one goal. I'm going to be an international professional champion. I believe in being the best in whatever work you undertake."

So says 15-year-old Josephine Pitman, winner of the novice championship.

Highest Record

"In 1918 I made the highest record ever achieved," said Hossfeld, "that of 143 words per minute for one hour. The reason my record of 136 words a minute is lower this year is because of the difference in the material. It was more difficult this year. But last year's record was beaten five words a minute. The conditions were the same, one hour's writing from unfamiliar copy, ten words deducted for each error. I did 553 words in one hour this year with 24 errors, which, deducting 260 words in penalties, left a net of 130 words per minute. I also won the one-minute championship of 146 words without error.

Hee Goo!

"Girls who really succeed in this business are not the sort you see caricatured in comics, nor on the stage," said Miss Wane. "You have to be serious-minded and have your thoughts on your advancement as well as your heart in your work, no matter what your ambition in life. I am 21 years old, born in New York and have been in this business for five years.

"My fingers—well, my middle finger is three and a half inches long. Of course, my ambition is to win an international professional championship. My record was 127 words a minute after deducting for errors. The amateur class has a 30-minute contest. I did 4247 words with 45 errors."

Fifteen-year-old Josephine Pitman did 1538 words in 15 minutes—the latter being the length of content for novices. Five errors made her net average 99 words a minute.
